

Job AD for website

80 Years of Music. Countless Stories Still to Tell.

Director of Marketing & Communications Musica Viva Australia

For 80 years, Musica Viva Australia (MVA) has shaped Australia's cultural landscape — bringing world-class chamber music to concert halls, classrooms, and communities across the nation. As one of the world's leading presenters of chamber music, we continue to evolve, and we are now seeking an exceptional marketing and communications leader to help guide our next chapter.

Reporting directly to the CEO and joining the senior leadership team, this role holds stewardship of MVA's brand, voice, and audience growth across concerts, education, and emerging artists. You will lead a contemporary, insight-driven marketing function — aligning creativity with strategy, tradition with innovation — and influence how our music, artists, and stories are experienced across Australia.

This is a rare opportunity to combine strategic leadership with cultural impact, shaping the public identity of an organisation where artistry, purpose, and performance meet.

Sydney or Melbourne | Hybrid & flexible | Full-time, permanent

Help ensure Australia's music legacy continues to resonate — clearly, confidently, and boldly.

More Information

For an informal chat about the role and MVA please contact Anne Frankenberg, by email: afrankenberg@musicaviva.com.au or Jennifer McCleary, People & Culture Manager, by email: jmccleary@musicaviva.com.au

More information and how to apply, please request a candidate pack from stewari@musicaviva.com.au or tludgate@musicaviva.com.au

Applications close: midnight, Sunday 10 May

First and second round interviews: late May